

ABSTRACT

Methods for treatment and prophylaxis of hyperlipidemias, including hypertriglyceridemia and hypercholesterolemia, are provided. The methods include administering to a host a therapeutically or prophylactically effective amount of a diterpene compound, such as a hypoestoxide.